

Advanced Directed Language Study

Application

The Inner Asian and Uralic National Resource Center plans to offer opportunities for advanced study of Central Eurasian languages for students in residence at IU during academic year 2009-2010. The program will provide an opportunity to study languages in levels (three and beyond) not offered during an academic year in the Central Eurasian Studies Department.

ADLS students will be required to have three weekly contact hours with a language informant during both semesters. The language informant, chosen by the ADLS candidate from a heritage community, university faculty, visiting scholars or foreign students, will work closely with an ADLS language coordinator, who will oversee methodology and overall progress of these tutorials.

ADLS students will be eligible for FLAS fellowships. In accordance with the guidelines of the Department of Education, preference will be given to students studying Islamic societies and likely to pursue government service. ADLS applicants who wish to be considered for FLAS must also submit BOTH a FLAS application AND an ADLS application by February 1, 2009. ADLS applicants who are not applying for FLAS are also advised to submit ADLS applications by February 1 in order to assure full consideration.

Participation in the program is contingent on IAUNRC approval of the language informant. If no suitable tutor is available in the Bloomington area, contact may take place via phone and other electronic means. (Limited funds may be available to pay for communications in such cases.) IAUNRC will pay the informant, who must be eligible to work in the US.

Applicant Instructions:

1. All applicants must complete Section I on the following page. Applicants who are not applying for a FLAS must also complete Section II.

All applicants must also provide the following:

- Write a brief description (no more than 500 words) telling what you expect to gain from the language course.
- Identify materials you propose to use in the course and provide a proposed course structure.
- Indicate how you will identify the language informant with whom you will work.

The deadline for receipt of all materials is February 1, 2009 at the IAUNRC, Goodbody Hall 324 (M-F: 8am-12 and 1-5pm).

Advanced Directed Language Study Application

I. General Information

1. Full Name:
2. Current Address:
3. Permanent Address:
4. E-mail address:
5. Country of citizenship:
6. Department(s) or program(s) for which you are currently or will be enrolled:

Field within department:

Degree sought:

Semester you first enrolled at IU:

7. LANGUAGE APPLYING FOR:

8. Please provide the names of two people from whom you have requested letters of reference. If you are applying for a FLAS, reference letters for FLAS may serve for ADLS as well. Please note that at least one reference should address your abilities in foreign language study.

1. Name:
Title:
Address:

2. Name:
Title:
Address:

Advanced Directed Language Study Application

II. Background Information (please complete this section if you have not applied for a FLAS scholarship).

1. Educational background. List all colleges and/or universities attended as an undergraduate or graduate student:

Institution Received	Dates Attended	Major Subject	Degree/Year
---------------------------------	-----------------------	----------------------	--------------------

(attach additional sheet if needed)

2. Please list all academic honors and honorary organizations:
3. List all positions and appointment dates (including assistantships, fellowships, instructorships, etc.) you have held:
4. List all publications and creative work (if any):
5. Please include one complete set of official transcripts of colleges and university credits.

Signature

Date