women's vest w/ tassels: black w/ purple, blue, orange, cream and green embroidery. The geometric shapes and blend of purple, blue, orange, cream, and green emroidery on this Kamzol are distinctly Kyrgyz. This vest is most likely worn by a more senior member of the family, given its short length, dark color, and modest covering. Kamzols with a shaped waist are relatively new, introduced only in the late 19th and 20th centuries.

Category Video
Language: Kyrgyz
English Version:
Cyrillic Title
Description:
Adopted Son is an intelligently made film about a boy growing up in a village in Kyrgyzstan. The director, Aktan Abdykalykov, making his first feature film, shows us someone making the transition from childhood pranks to adult concerns. Shot primarily in black-and-white, but with patches of color, this film is simply, but not primitively, made. Abdykalykov pays attention to detail. Nature and natural processes preoccupy him and the villagers. Human life here is apparently life directly in nature. Swaying trees, a trapped bird, angry bees, a cow nursing a calf, a winding stream, the moon-- these images count for nearly as much as shots of human faces. Although the faces represent one of the film's strengths. They say a good deal--about labor, suffering, hope, friendship, love.

1995 was the 1000th anniversary of the Kyrgyz folk epic "Manas." This video, filmed in the mountainous land of Kyrgyzstan in Central Asia, tells the story of the Kyrgyz people through their ancient hero, Manas. It captures their ancient culture and customs and the beautiful country in which the semi-nomadic horse-loving Kyrgyz live.

This short video will introduce you to the Kyrgyz people and natural scenic beauty. Karakol, formerly called Przhhevsk, is the ideal starting point for adventure vacations in Kyrgyzstan. From this small mile high city at the eastern end of Lake Issyk-Kul, you can explore the magnificent Tian Shan mountains, discover gentle alpine meadows and glacier-fed lakes, traverse remote gorges on horseback, and sip koomis with shepherds who maintain their nomadic lifestyle.

Video	Kyrgyz	A lyrical portrait of the 64-year old Janyl Alibekova, who lives in the border mountain village of Achy-Kaindy. Janyl continues the age-old tradition of making felt carpets into which she creatively incorporates national motifs. She never relied on anyone, least of all on the government and modern industrial technologies. As history would have it, after the break-up of the Soviet Union and in a period of general economic decline, Janyl became famous in Europe, a star of the magazine Elle, and the director of her own workshop. Yet she didn't change her lifestyle or her independent anti-patriarchal views	Artist:	Picture
