Artifact

Multi-colored viscose Uzbek Scarf. Hemmed on three sides. Vertical stripes in multiple colors with gold embroidery. Good for outreach display table. This pattern, known as abr (ikat) involves a complicated process of dying and measuring before it is woven. The colors are meant to blend in to one another, rather than be set with fine lines to distinguish the end of one object and the beginning of another. While silk was only used by the aristocratic families during the times of the Khanites, it has become more available to everyone since the beginning of the 20th century. This piece is made of a viscose material, and is merely demonstrative of the type of weave pattern common in Uzbekistan (and Tadjikistan).

Video	English	The irreverent and irascible Anthony Bourdain is out of the kitchen, out of the hotel, past the tourist traps and headed out for culinary adventure. He's on a globe-hopping journey, hitting the streets in search of authentic flavors and experiences. Willing to go anywhere and try anything, Anthony - featured exclusively on Travel Channel - is out to experience destinations from the streets and local point of view. With food as his passport, Anthony gains entry to cultures around the world: with No Reservations. Episode 9: Anthony is in for a wild trip as he journeys through Uzbekistan's 2000-year-old capital, Tashkent, dines at Jumanji, goes to a bellydancing club, gets acquainted with the culture by visiting a local mosque, shops for a wedding present, and much more.	Artist: Bourdain, Antho Prducer: Travel Channel Date: 2005 Length: 42 min.

Video	English	Habiba is a Tabib, a Muslim healer, who belongs to the earliest Sufi "Chain of Mystic Transmission," a lineage of teachers whose main representative is the great master Bahaudin Nacksband. Uzbekistan is a dreamlike land of turquoise domes and minarets, a crossroad of western and eastern civilization along the Silk Road. A Muslim country: its spiritual tradition derives from the teachings of all the great religions on earth.	Prducer: Mystic Fire Vide

A grim legacy of colonial rule. The Aral Sea, once the world's fourth largest lake, has largely disappeared. Water from Amu Darya and Syr Darya Rivers flow to the Aral Sea. During the Soviet period most of this water was diverted to grow cotton. No water can be seen from this stranded ship in Uzbekistan.
