L541 Transcription Exam II (Take-home part)
Due: Wednesday, April 15 (in class)

Non-English phrase transcription

Listen to the sound file TE2.wav, and transcribe it as closely as you can, bearing in mind that you have no idea about what aspects of the speech are linguistically meaningful. For tone/accent analysis, you can assume that this language has high accents (H*) in various locations and final boundary tones. With these assumptions, indicate the location of high accents (H*) above your transcription and decide which boundary tones (LL%, LH%, HL%, HH%) appears at the end.
